NOUN

IU Cinema's bi-monthly programming calendar

Happy 2023, everyone! We're back and ready to dive headlong into our Spring program. We're starting off strong with some of our favorite series:

- International Art House: the cutting edge of independent filmmaking. This semester, we've got two Cannes winners (Triangle of Sadness, Palme d'Or winner, and Decision to Leave, Best Director winner for Park Chan-wook); a Sundance 2022 World Cinema Jury Prize winner (Utama); and two festival favorites from the Philippines (Leonor Will Never Die) and Senegal (Saloum). Co-sponsored by our friends at the Ryder Film Series.
- Not-Quite Midnights: bringing you cult films; undiscovered gems; and the genre-pushing, shape-shifting new films setting the film world abuzz. The line-up includes two cult favorites (Pee-wee's Big Adventure and Night of the Comet); a newly christened late-night gem (The Love Witch); a mind-bending trip into the near future (Possessor); a camp classic (Showgirls); and a brand-new satire destined to become your new number one (The Menu).
- 5X: Lina Wertmüller: a celebration of the iconoclastic Italian director who was the first woman ever nominated for an Academy Award for Best Director. Wertmüller's satirical, complicated, endlessly entertaining, and progressive films are relevant now more than ever.
- City Lights: it's City Lights' 25th anniversary! The film series that existed long before our beloved IU Cinema continues its programming of key masterworks of 20th-century filmmaking.

We're also showcasing our eclectic Staff Selects series; the 50th anniversary of Scorsese's Mean Streets; a new 4K restoration of Bertolucci's The Conformist; the Underground Film Series; Art and a Movie; and a special Valentine's Day showing of Mulholland Drive, David Lynch's love letter to Hollywood. We love a stacked schedule of classics, new discoveries, and films as entertaining as they are intellectually enriching. See you at the movies!

FOURTH WALL is made to help you easily access IU Cinema programming, wherever you are. Unfold it and stick it on the fridge, pop it on your paper calendar, put it in the pocket of your bag, access a digital version on our website that you can keep on your phone, find it on our social media platforms, pick up a copy on campus or around town, or add yourself to our mailing list by giving us a call.

FOREVER QUEER: COMMUNITY, MEMORY, SURVIVAL

Generously funded by IU's Queer Philanthropy Circle, Forever Queer is a semester-long program that highlights the endurance of queer film, media, and performance as a site of community construction, cultural memory, and survival. Combining film screenings, performances, workshops, and visits from industry professionals, Forever Queer provides unparalleled access to materials, ideas, and individuals otherwise not easily accessible.

Queer Time, Queer Space: highlights the filmic work that came before and after the New Queer Cinema movement of the 1990s, focusing on current shortform work from contemporary queer voices (Lorraine Was on the News by Doron Max Hagay; One Year of Khadijah and Pauline by Lee Manasala; and Dominant Species by Joseph Sackett) and a feature from a stalwart of early queer filmmaking (Derek Jarman's Jubilee), all experiments in genre, form, and aesthetics.

Diva Worship: celebrates and explores divas as ciphers of queer storytelling and subjectivity. Featuring Jack Smith's risqué experimental Flaming Creatures; Peggy Rajski's ode to the power of Diana Ross, Trevor; and Antonio Santini and Dan Sickles' documentary Mala Mala, which highlights how "diva-ness" is embedded in a community of Puerto Rican trans women creating and recreating themselves. This program will be followed by a Diva Legends dance party at The Back Door, Bloomington's only dedicated LGBTQIA+ club space.

Vivisection: Community and Power in Queer Performance: deprioritized by institutional archives, queer history and its mediated ephemera are in danger of disappearing from the cultural landscape. As a rejoinder, disenfranchised queer communities have created their own community-based archives as critical spaces of challenge and sustained memory. This program brings three such practitioners to IU for a series of talks and workshops to demonstrate and discuss how film and media can be weapons of queer memory.

Elements + The Doom Generation: IU alum and filmmaker Matthew Riutta returns to Bloomington to share his short film anthology series Elements, lead a mentorship session with students, and participate in a special screening of a new restoration of Gregg Araki's The Doom Generation, a seminal film of New Queer Cinema.

We're so excited and proud to share this series with you and the queer campus and Bloomington communities!
