// GENERAL INFORMATION

PARKING
The nearest parking garage, located at Jordan Avenue, is free to all visitors Friday after 6:00 p.m. through Sunday at 11:00 p.m. On weekdays, the maximum fee for vehicles entering after 5:00 p.m. is $10. IU parking permit holders can park in any non-24-hour A or C space on weekdays after 5:00 p.m. Anyone may park in any non-24-hour A or C space, any D space, and all campus parking garages on weekends starting Friday at 6:00 p.m. until Sunday at 11:00 p.m.

Auditorium (AU) permits are available for purchase at the IU Office of Parking Operations for a price of $30 for July 2015–June 2016. The AU permit will allow you to park free of charge in any A, C, or E space on evenings and weekends of any IU Cinema, IU Auditorium, and IU Theater event. Please note, however, that these passes are NOT valid for Monday–Friday matinee screenings.

Accessible parking next to the Neal-Marshall Black Culture Center and in Wells Library lots requires an IU parking permit and a disabled sticker.

For additional information, call Parking Operations at (812) 855-9848 or visit parking.indiana.edu.

TICKET INFORMATION
The IU Cinema has limited capacity with 260 seats. Patrons are encouraged to acquire tickets in advance. More than half of our screenings are free of charge to everyone. The remainder of our events are typically either $3 for all tickets or $3 for IUB students/$6 for the public. Occasionally we present a special event with a higher cost. You can find ticket price information within the listing for each event.

Tickets are required for all events, unless otherwise noted. Tickets are available online through cinema.indiana.edu/tickets, at the IU Auditorium Box Office during regular business hours1 (Monday–Friday from 10:00 a.m.–5:00 p.m.), and in the IU Cinema lobby one hour prior to any screening, if tickets are still available.

Tickets for all Fall 2015 events will be on sale online on August 17, 2015, unless otherwise noted. For those who do not wish to purchase tickets online, a limited number of tickets will be available in person on the first day of the month prior to the screening (see below for details).

... A PLACE FOR FILM™

The Indiana University Cinema is a world-class venue and curatorial program dedicated to the scholarly study and highest standards of exhibition of film in both its traditional and modern forms. advancing the University’s long-standing commitment to excellence, research, and public engagement in the arts by providing educational, entertaining, and enriching cinematic experiences. This is your place for film!
WELCOME BACK TO THE IU CINEMA!

This fall’s program will round out our fifth full year of programming as Bloomington’s arthouse cinema, Indiana University’s cinematheque, a haven for visiting filmmakers, and a showcase for student work ... a place for film.”

These years have been fruitful. Along with screening more than 1,000 film titles, audiences have had a chance to engage over 150 filmmakers, enjoy numerous premieres and one-of-a-kind presentations, live music and film events, and much more. We thank you for being part of these.

As IU plans for its bicentennial in 2020, IU Cinema prepares for its next five years, hoping to secure its place as one of the leading university cinemas in the U.S. Part of that preparation includes my sabbatical, which will be dedicated to several initiatives to propel IU Cinema forward as an innovative and a visionary institution. My sabbatical will also include travel to international festivals, representing Indiana University, as well as working with Film Indiana and other institutions on building infrastructure for growth in film and media production in Indiana.

The Cinema is in the very capable hands of our talented and seasoned staff, under the leadership of Associate Director Brittany D. Friesner. The exciting fall program revealed in the following pages is Brittany’s masterwork, along with that of the academic partners with whom we collaborate, several of you who continue to offer programming suggestions, and a bit of my counsel. It is going to be a great semester for cinephiles!

Guests include the one-and-only John Waters, the iconic Penelope Spheeris, documentarian Tony Buba, experimental composer John Zorn, and many more. There are three major silent-film presentations with live music, including Ben-Hur: A Tale of the Christ (1925) and The Birth of a Nation (1915) with piano accompaniment, as well as Alfred Hitchcock’s Blackmail (1927), with a 17-piece student orchestra.

Other major events include Wounded Galaxies, a Bloomington festival of experimental media, and the two-week Directed by Women festival of films, a series linked to the global initiative launched by IU Cinema’s Social Media Specialist Barbara Ann O’Leary.

There is much more to celebrate in the program, including midnight movies, a celebration of Frank Sinatra’s centennial, more repertory programs, and the newest titles from around the globe in our International Arthouse Series.

We hope you enjoy looking through these pages and find much that you don’t want to miss.

Thank you, as always, for being an essential part of IU Cinema, your place for film.

THE WOLFPACK
(2015) Directed by Crystal Moselle
August 6 – Thursday – 7:00 p.m.
August 7 – Friday – 7:00 p.m.
August 8 – Saturday – 3:00 p.m.

The six Angulo brothers have spent their entire lives locked away from society in an apartment on the Lower East Side of Manhattan. They’re all exceedingly bright, homeschooled, have no acquaintances outside their family, and have practically never left their home. All they know of the outside world is gleaned from the films they watch obsessively and recreate meticulously, using elaborate homemade props and costumes. For years this has served as a productive creative outlet and a way to stave off loneliness—but after one of the brothers escapes the apartment, the power dynamics in the house are transformed, and all the boys begin to dream of venturing out.
The Wolfpack charts a fascinating coming of age story and becomes a true example of the power of movies to transform and save lives.

August 14 – Friday – 7:00 p.m.
August 15 – Saturday – 3:00 p.m.

Ever since the National University strike broke out, Sombra and Santos have been living in angst-ridden limbo. Education-less, motionless, purposeless, and unsure of what the strike will bring, they begin to look for strange ways to kill time. But their idiosyncratic routine is interrupted by the unexpected arrival of Tomás, Sombra’s kid brother. Unable to fit in amongst these older slackers, Tomás discovers that unsung Mexican folk-rock hero Epigmenio Cruz has been hospitalized somewhere in the city. Tomás convinces Sombra and Santos they must track him down in order to pay their final respects on his deathbed. But what they thought would be a simple trip to find their childhood idol, soon becomes a voyage of self-discovery across Mexico City’s invisible frontiers.

2015 SUNDANCE FILM FESTIVAL SHORT FILM PROGRAM
(2015) Directed by multiple directors
August 20 – Thursday – 7:00 p.m.
August 22 – Saturday – 3:00 p.m.

Showcasing a wide variety of story and style, the 2015 Sundance Film Festival Short Film Tour is an 83-minute program of six short films that won awards at this year’s festival, which over the course of its history has been widely considered the premier showcase for short films and a launchpad for several now-prominent independent filmmakers. Including fiction, documentary, and animation from around the world, the 2015 program traverses vibrant styles from wild comedy to quiet poetry. Each breaks through its limited timeframe with a high level of artistry and story that will resonate with audiences long after it ends.

PARIS IS BURNING
(1990) Directed by Jennie Livingston
August 27 – Thursday – 7:00 p.m.
25th Anniversary Screening.
Jennie Livingston’s iconic documentary offers an intimate portrait of the Harlem drag balls, where rival fashion “houses” compete for trophies and cash prizes in categories like “face,” “femme queen realness,” and “voguing.” Winner of a Sundance Grand Jury Prize, Paris is Burning celebrates how one group of New Yorkers, for whom racism, poverty, and homophobia are all too real, creates a world of sustenance and joy. Digitally remastered version courtesy of the UCLA Film & Television Archive in conjunction with Sundance Institute and the Outfest UCLA Legacy Project.
Free, but ticketed.

JELLYFISH EYES
(2013) Takashi Murakami
August 28 – Friday – 6:30 p.m.
August 29 – Saturday – 7:00 p.m.
The directorial debut from acclaimed artist Takashi Murakami, Jellyfish Eyes brings its creator’s endless imagination to the screen in a tale of family, friendship, and loyalty set in a world of fantasy that only Murakami could conjure. Having moved to the country with his mother following the death of his father, young Masashi (Takuto Sueoka) immediately makes a most unlikely friend: a flying, jellyfish-like sprite that he nicknames Kurage-bo. Taking Kurage-bo under his wing and into the classroom, Masashi soon discovers that his schoolmates have similar friends—and that they, their creators, and the town itself are not all they seem to be.

DRUNK STONED BRILLIANT DEAD: THE STORY OF THE NATIONAL LAMPOON
(2015) Directed by Douglas Tirola
October 29 – Thursday – 7:00 p.m.
November 5 – Thursday – 7:00 p.m.
Amid the seismic cultural shift of the 1970s, American comedy got a sharper edge when a newly minted magazine named National Lampoon stuck its middle finger up at the establishment. Spawned at an Ivy League school by the wonderfully warped minds of Douglas Kenney and Henry Beard, National Lampoon rose from a counterculture rag to a revered comic institution. This unique cocktail of high satire and gallows humor exploded onto America’s cultural consciousness attracting visionary talents such as Gilda Radner, John Belushi, Bill Murray, and Chevy Chase. Director Douglas Tirola unearths never-before-seen archival footage and brilliantly weaves it together with the magazine’s beautiful and often shocking art, reliving National Lampoon’s meteoric rise from go-to magazine of the counterculture to a brand synonymous with Hollywood’s biggest comedies.

TAXI
(2015) Directed by Jafar Panahi
November 19 – Thursday – 7:00 p.m.
November 20 – Friday – 7:00 p.m.
Experience a day in Tehran through the stories and expressions of various taxi passengers as told to their driver. Iranian director Jafar Panahi once again challenges the 20-year ban placed on him from making films, and the result is an honest and candid portrait of the Iranian capital. Taxi won the Golden Bear prize at the 2015 Berlin International Film Festival.

THE APU TRILOGY

Two decades after its original negatives were burned in a fire, Satyajit Ray’s breathtaking milestone of world cinema rises from the ashes in a meticulously reconstructed new 4K restoration. The Apu Trilogy brought India into the golden age of international arthouse film, following one indelible character, a free-spirited child in rural Bengal who matures into an adolescent urban student and finally a sensitive man of the world. These delicate masterworks—Pather Panchali (Song of the Little Road), Aparajito (The Unvanquished), and Apur Sansar (The World of Apu)—based on two books by Bibhutibhusan Banerjee, were shot over the course of five years, and each stands on its own as a tender, visually radiant journey. They are among the most achingly beautiful, richly humane movies ever made—essential works for any film lover. New 4K restorations made by the Criterion Collection in collaboration with the Academy Film Archive at the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.
The release in 1955 of Satyajit Ray’s debut, Pather Panchali, introduced the world an eloquent and important new cinematic voice. A depiction of rural Bengali life in a style inspired by Italian Neorealism, this naturalistic but poetic evocation of a number of years in the life of a family introduces us to little Apu and, just as essentially, the women who will help shape him: his independent older sister, Durga; his harried mother, Sarbajaya, who, with her husband often away, must hold the family together; and his kindly and mischievous elderly “auntie,” Indir—vivid, multifaceted characters all. With resplendent photography informed by its young protagonist’s perpetual sense of discovery, the Cannes-awarded Pather Panchali is an immersive cinematic experience and a film of elemental power. In Bengali with English subtitles. $3 IUB students, $6 public.

$3 IUB students, $6 public. (2K DCP. 125 min. Not Rated.)

Satyajit Ray had not planned to make a sequel to Pather Panchali, but after the film’s international success, he decided to continue Apu’s narrative. Aparajito picks up where the first film leaves off, with Apu and his family having moved away from the country to live in the bustling holy city of Varanasi (then known as Benares). As Apu progresses from wide-eyed child to intellectually curious teenager, eventually studying in Kolkata, we witness his academic and moral education, as well as the growing complexity of his relationship with his mother. This tenderly expressive, often heart-wrenching film, which won three top prizes at the Venice Film Festival, including the Golden Lion, not only extends but also spiritually deepens the tale of Apu. In Bengali with English subtitles.

$3 IUB students, $6 public. (2K DCP. 109 min. Not Rated.)

By the time Apur Sansar was released, Satyajit Ray had directed not only the first two Apu films but also the masterpiece The Music Room, and was well on his way to becoming a legend. This extraordinary final chapter brings our protagonist’s journey full circle. Apu is now in his early 20s, out of college, and hoping to live as a writer. Alongside his professional ambitions, the film charts his romantic awakening, which occurs as the result of a most unlikely turn of events, and his eventual, fraught fatherhood. Featuring soon to be Ray regulars Soumitra Chatterjee and Sharmila Tagore in star-making performances, and demonstrating Ray’s ever-more-impressive skills as a crafter of pure cinematic imagery, Apur Sansar is a breathtaking conclusion to this monumental cinematic trilogy. In Bengali with English subtitles.

BEHIND THE BEAUTIFUL FOREVERS
(2015) Directed by Rufus Norris
October 18 – Sunday – 6:30 p.m.
Meera Syal (The Kumars, Goodness Gracious Me, Rafta Rafta at the National) returns to the National Theatre, directed by Rufus Norris (Broken, London Road). Pulitzer Prize-winner Katherine Boo spent three years in Annawadi recording the lives of its residents. From her uncompromising book, winner of the National Book Award for Non-Fiction 2012, David Hare has fashioned a tumultuous play on an epic scale. India is surging with global ambition, but beyond the luxury hotels surrounding Mumbai airport lies a makeshift slum, full of people with plans of their own, but their schemes are fragile—global recession threatens the garbage trade, and another slum-dweller is about to make an accusation that will destroy herself and shatter the neighbourhood.

JOHN WATERS

THE INIMITABLE AND INCOMPARABLE JOHN WATERS

Legendary auteur of trash and charm, John Waters was born in Baltimore in 1946 and drawn to movies at an early age—particularly exploitation films that enticed audiences with lurid ad campaigns highlighting sex, drugs, and violence. As a Baltimore teenager, he began making 8mm underground movies influenced by the likes of Jean-Luc Godard, Walt Disney, Andy Warhol, Russ Meyer, and Ingmar Bergman, and, in 1972, Waters created what would become the most notorious film of 1970s American independent cinema—Pink Flamingos—making him a cult celebrity.

With the success of the big-budget Hairspray in 1988, Waters went from “hon” to Hollywood, but he has never lost his fondness for pushing boundaries and skirting the edges of acceptable behavior. Maintaining his independent cinema ethos, he continues to charm, challenge, and dare audiences with his audacious vision. Commenting on the long-lasting popularity of Pink Flamingos after its 25th anniversary re-release, Waters proudly boasted, “it’s hard to offend three generations, but it looks like I’ve succeeded.”

In September 2014, the Film Society of Lincoln Center honored John Waters’ half a century of filmmaking with a 10-day celebration entitled “Fifty Years of John Waters: How Much Can You Take?” featuring a complete retrospective of his film work.

In addition to writing and directing feature films, Waters is the author of seven books—including Role Models and Carsick, both of which landed on the New York Times and the Los Angeles Times best seller lists—as well as a photographer, whose work has been shown in galleries all over the world, including the New Museum of Contemporary Art, the Fotomuseum Winterthur, and The Andy Warhol Museum.

JORGENSEN GUEST FILMMAKER LECTURE
JOHN WATERS
“THIS FILTHY WORLD: FILTHIER & DIRTIER”
October 2 – Friday – 5:00 p.m.
Free, but ticketed.*

“This Filthy World: Filthier & Dirtier” is John Waters’ one-man show, a “vaudeville” act that celebrates the film career and obsessive tastes of the man William S. Burroughs once called “The Pope of Trash.” Focusing on Waters’ early negative artistic influences and his fascination with true crime, exploitation films, fashion lunacy, and the extremes of sexual politics, this joyously depraved and continuously updated monologue is a rallying cry against the tyranny of good taste and serves as a call to arms for filth followers everywhere. Following the lecture, Waters will be signing copies of his books Role Models and Carsick, which will be available for sale. This lecture is presented in partnership with the College Arts and Humanities Institute.

*Tickets available in-person only at IU Auditorium on September 18. Limit two tickets per person.
POLYESTER
(1981) Directed by John Waters
August 28 – Friday – 9:30 p.m.
Housewife Francine Fishpaw’s life has become a living hell. Her husband Elmer runs a porno theater and is having an affair with his secretary. Her two wayward teenagers—Dexter, a glue sniffing foot stomper, and Lu-Lu, a brazen hussy excited for her next abortion—cannot be controlled. Francine’s best friend, Cuddles, is losing her mind and trying to take Francine with her. Even Francine’s dog would rather commit suicide than stick around. All hope is lost, until the dreamy Todd Tomorrow appears—but is he really all he appears to be? Don’t miss the tragic and subversive debauchery! Presented with authentic Odorama cards.
$3 all tickets.
(2K DCP. 95 min. Not Rated.)

FEMALE TROUBLE
(1974) Directed by John Waters
September 18 – Friday – 9:30 p.m.
Female Trouble is the epic life story of bad girl Dawn Davenport, from her delinquent youth as a go-go dancer through her bizarre and outrageous life of crime to her defiant death in an electric chair. Perversely enjoyable, Female Trouble is the ultimate indulgence in bad taste and delicious depravity. Divine, Mink Stole, and Edith Massey assault the screen with demented genius and no-holds-barred performances.
$3 all tickets.
(35mm. 89 min. Rated NC-17.)

CRY-BABY
(1990) Directed by John Waters
October 1 – Thursday – 7:00 p.m.
Johnny Depp leads an all-star cast (Iggy Pop, Ricki Lake, Traci Lords) about the wrong side of the tracks being the best side of the tracks. Waters’ outrageous musical comedy pits the juvenile delinquent “Drapes” against the socially acceptable “Squares” in a battle of teen angst where subcultural taboos are bound to be broken once love enters the picture.
$3 all tickets.
(35mm. 85 min. Rated PG-13.)
CECIL B. DEMENTED
(2000) Directed by John Waters
October 2 – Friday – 7:00 p.m.
An insane action comedy about a young lunatic director (Stephen Dorff) and his devoted cult of cinema terrorists who kidnap a Hollywood movie goddess (Melanie Griffith) and force her to star in their radical underground movie. Director John Waters is scheduled to be present.
$3 all tickets.
(35mm. 87 min. Rated R.)

SERIAL MOM
(1994) Directed by John Waters
October 2 – Friday – 10:00 p.m.
A hilarious and dark twist on the everyday mediocrity of suburban life, Serial Mom gives us Kathleen Turner as we’ve never seen her before. As Beverly Sutphin, Turner plays a seemingly perfect homemaker, who will stop at nothing to rid the neighborhood of anyone who cannot live up to her perfect moral code.
$3 all tickets.
(35mm. 95 min. Rated R.)

PINK FLAMINGOS
(1972) Directed by John Waters
October 2 – Friday – 11:59 p.m.
A colorful and twisted dark comedy chronicling the exploits of “the filthiest person alive.” With Pink Flamingos, John Waters created one of the most beloved cult classics of all time. With each perverse and repulsive act, the cast ups the ante until the notorious final scene recommended for only the strongest of stomachs.
$3 all tickets.
(35mm. 93 min. Rated NC-17.)
THE BIG LEBOWSKI
(1998) Directed by Joel Coen and Ethan Coen
August 28 – Friday – 11:59 p.m.
From the Academy-Award®-winning Coen Brothers comes this classic cult comedy-thriller about bowling, avant-garde art, nihilistic Austrians, and a guy named The Dude. Jeff “The Dude” Lebowski wants a drama-free life, but in a case of mistaken identity, a couple of thugs break into his place and steal his rug. Now, The Dude must embark on a quest to set the record straight and tie his room back together. Costumes encouraged!
$3 all tickets.
(2K DCP. 117 min. Rated R.)

HAUSU (HOUSE)
(1977) Directed by Nobuhiko Ôbayashi
October 30 – Friday – 11:59 p.m.
October 31 – Saturday – 7:00 p.m.
An hallucinatory head trip about a schoolgirl who travels with six classmates to her ailing aunt’s creaky country home, only to come face to face with evil spirits, bloodthirsty pianos, and a demonic housecat. Too absurd to be genuinely terrifying, yet too nightmarish to be merely comic, House seems like it was beamed to Earth from another planet. Or perhaps the mind of a child: the director Nobuhiko Ôbayashi fashioned the script after the eccentric musings of his 11-year-old daughter, then employed all the tricks in his analog arsenal (mattes, animation, and collage) to make them a visually astonishing, raucous reality. Contains graphic content, including violence and nudity.
$3 all tickets.

In 2014, IU Cinema Social Media Specialist Barbara Ann O’Leary founded the Directed by Women Global Viewing Party, www.directedbywomen.com, envisioned as a two-week celebration of women filmmakers to take place in September 2015. The initiative was an invitation to cinemas and cinephiles around the world “to appreciate the richness and variety of what women filmmakers bring into the world, become aware of the enormous outpouring of motion picture creativity by women on the planet, and expand global opportunities for screening and streaming films directed by women.” Given IU Cinema’s longstanding commitment to inclusive and diverse programming, it has committed all of its public programming from September 1—15 to the work of women filmmakers from around the world.

Often referred to as a rock ‘n’ roll ethnologist, as a child, Penelope Spheeris lived with her family in different trailer parks throughout southern California. She spent her teenage years in Orange County, graduating from Westminster High School with a daunting “most likely to succeed” label. Working as a waitress at Denny’s and IHOP, Spheeris put herself through film school and worked as a film editor and a cinematographer before forming her own company in 1974—ROCK ’N REEL, the first Los Angeles production company specializing in music videos. Spheeris produced, directed, and edited videos for major bands throughout the ‘70s and ‘80s. Her feature film debut was the 1979 documentary on the L.A. punk scene, The Decline of Western Civilization, which received stunning critical reviews. Spheeris is a prolific documentarian and feature-film and television director whose credits include the two follow-up installments to her debut: The Decline of Western Civilization Parts II and III, as well as the narrative films Dudes, Suburbia, and Wayne’s World. Spheeris’ daughter Anna Fox produced the DVD/BluRay box set of The Decline of Western Civilization trilogy and is also scheduled to be present.

THE DECLINE OF WESTERN CIVILIZATION (1981) Directed by Penelope Spheeris

September 10 – Thursday – 6:30 p.m.

The ultimate record of L.A.’s ‘80s punk subculture, The Decline of Western Civilization captured the essence of the scene, providing a front row-seat to the mosh pits, violence, humor, and anti-establishment view of the world, as well as unparalleled access to some of the most influential and innovative musicians and groups of all time, including X, Circle Jerks, Black Flag, Fear, and Germs. Largely unknown to the mainstream world at the time, many of the punk bands first seen here have become legendary. This time capsule of a singular moment in rock history is highly-celebrated and has been in demand for decades by fans worldwide. New 2K digital restoration. Director Penelope Spheeris is scheduled to be present.

THE DECLINE OF WESTERN CIVILIZATION
(1981) Directed by Penelope Spheeris
September 10 – Thursday – 9:30 p.m.
A rebellious rock vocalist from Los Angeles seeks to document the heavy metal scene before it becomes mainstream. Featuring interviews with the likes of Ozzy Osbourne, Alice Cooper, and Poison, the film not only chronicles the growth of the hard rock genre, but also sheds light on the social and political issues of the time. Director Penelope Spheeris is scheduled to be present. Free, but ticketed. (35mm. 96 min. Not Rated.)

THE DECLINE OF WESTERN CIVILIZATION II: THE METAL YEARS
(1988) Directed by Penelope Spheeris
September 10 – Thursday – 9:30 p.m.
In 1988, The Decline Of Western Civilization Part II: The Metal Years hit select theaters, but was never released until now. With fleeting moments of hilarity and youthful exuberance, at its core it is a disturbing social commentary about kids who have left home due to abuse, neglect, and alienation. Now with a new 2K digital restoration, there are performances by Final Conflict, Litmus Green, Naked Aggression, and The Resistance. Decline II hit the Freedom of Expression Award at the 1988 Sundance Film Festival. Director Penelope Spheeris is scheduled to be present. Free, but ticketed. (2K DCP. 90 min. Rated R.)

(1998) Directed by Penelope Spheeris
September 11 – Friday – 9:30 p.m.
In 1998, The Decline Of Western Civilization Part III hit a few select theaters, but was never released until now. With fleeting moments of hilarity and youthful exuberance, at its core it is a disturbing social commentary about kids who have left home due to abuse, neglect, and alienation. Now with a new 2K digital restoration, there are performances by Final Conflict, Litmus Green, Naked Aggression, and The Resistance. Decline III won the Freedom of Expression Award at the 1998 Sundance Film Festival. Director Penelope Spheeris is scheduled to be present. Free, but ticketed. (2K DCP. 86 min. Not Rated.)

WAYNE’S WORLD
(1992) Directed by Penelope Spheeris
September 12 – Saturday – 7:00 p.m.
Two slacker friends are offered the chance to go big with their cable-access television by a slimy television executive. Benjamin Oliver (Rob Lowe) offers Wayne Campbell (Mike Myers) and Garth Algar (Dana Carvey) an enticing contract, but they soon realize the network only wants to exploit their show and make big bucks from turning it into something far from the basement antics Wayne and Garth’s fans love. Free, but ticketed. (2K DCP. 94 min. Rated PG-13)

SUBURBIA
(1983) Directed by Penelope Spheeris
September 11 – Friday – 6:30 p.m.
When household tensions and a sense of worthlessness overcome Evan, he finds escape when he clings to the orphans of a throw-away society. The runaways hold on to each other like a family until a tragedy tears them apart. Print courtesy of the Academy Film Archive. Director Penelope Spheeris is scheduled to be present. Free, but ticketed. (2K DCP. 93 min. Rated R.)
The literal translation of luchando is struggling. The two films in this series are emblematic of women’s ongoing struggle against society’s patriarchal norms. Not only do women directors struggle to get their films made, the characters in these films struggle to make a living and to assert their independence. Luchando: Women in Contemporary Latin America offers a glimpse of the ways that women and people of African descent in the greater Caribbean region fight for recognition. This series is sponsored by the Black Film Center/Archive, the Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies, American Studies Graduate Student Association, and the departments of American Studies, African American and African Diaspora Studies, Gender Studies, and Spanish and Portuguese. Series curated by Nzingha Kendall.

PELO MALO (BAD HAIR)
(2013) Directed by Mariana Rondón
September 8 – Tuesday – 7:00 p.m.

Mariana Rondón’s acclaimed drama centers on the fraught relationship between a single mother, Marta, and her son, Junior, who wants to have his hair straightened for his school photo. Shot in a gritty, working-class Caracas neighborhood, Pelo Malo tackles questions of gender identity and burgeoning sexuality. Moreover, racial tensions subtly surface in this sensitively directed and powerfully acted film. After premiering at the Toronto International Film Festival, Pelo Malo won awards at Thessaloniki, San Sebastian, and Mar del Plata. In Spanish with English subtitles.

NEW NEGRESS FILM SOCIETY SHORT FILM PROGRAM
(2011–2015) Directed by multiple directors
September 4 – Friday – 6:30 p.m.

The New Negress Film Society was originally formed out of a need to create community in an industry where Black women’s voices and stories are often suppressed. While supporting a wide range of films, the primary focus of NNFS is on works and perspectives which break boundaries in film, both politically and artistically, especially works which are womanist in their content and experimental in form. Short films in this program include: Cakes Da Killa: NO HOMO (Ja’Tovia Gary, 2013); Seventh Grade (Stefani Saintonge, 2014), and La Tierra de los Adioses (Stefani Saintonge, 2013). Directors Ja’Tovia Gary and Stefani Saintonge are scheduled to attend.

HAIRY WHO & THE CHICAGO IMAGISTS
(2014) Directed by Leslie Buchbinder
October 18 – Sunday – 3:00 p.m.

In the mid-1960s, a group of artists located in Chicago offered a Midwestern alternative to the Pop art scene on the coasts. This documentary represents the first film to tell the “wild, woolly, utterly irreverent story” of the artists associated with groups like the Hairy Who, Monster Roster, and Imagists. It features over 40 interviews with the artists, critics, curators, and collectors, intertwined with a wealth of archival footage and photographs, and an original score for cello and voice by composer Tomeka Reid.

JORGENSEN GUEST FILMMAKER LECTURE

JOHN ZORN
October 7 – Wednesday – 3:00 p.m.
Free, no ticket required.

John Zorn is an experimental music composer and Jewish cultural advocate. With roots in the downtown music scene in 1970s NYC, Zorn’s eclectic sonic output has continuously pushed against the boundaries of musical genre. Moreover, Zorn has long been an advocate for what he calls “Radical Jewish Culture,” and his music label, Tzadik, explores and expands the boundaries of Jewish musical culture.

Zorn will perform in a double-rock bill featuring Bladerunner (Zorn, Bill Laswell, Dave Lombardo) and Simulacrum (John Medeski, Matt Hollenberg, Kenny Grohowski) on October 7 at the Buskirk-Chumley Theater.

8MM DEREK JARMAN SHORT FILMS FEATURING CYCLOBE

October 8 – Thursday – 7:00 p.m.

In 2013, British soundscape duo Cyclobe composed a phantasmagorical score for three rare Derek Jarman Super 8 films, Sulphur (1973, 7 min.), Tarot (1975, 16 min.), and Garden of Luxor (1972–73, 8 min.). The films explore themes of mythology, the occult, exoticism, and queer sexuality through imagery of magic rituals, tarot cards, skulls, crawling insects, pyramids, the Sphinx, masked figures, and supine young men. This will be the first time that Cyclobe performs their score live during a screening of the films. The screening event will be followed by an extended Q&A with Cyclobe.

QUEER MYTHOLOGIES // QUEER HISTORIES
(2003–12) Directed by multiple directors
October 9 – Friday – 6:30 p.m.
How does one go about creating mythologies of non-normative experience while exploring history in a markedly queer way? The films in this experimental shorts block work to address this central question. Whether engaged in an exploration of human bodies, of untold histories, or of a mythological landscape with new potential, these films understand their characters, their subject matter, and their form in original and markedly queer ways. This shorts program is comprised entirely of contemporary work and includes: In the Open (Albert Sackl, 2001), Shift (Juan Carlos Zaldivar, 2012), Ink Deep (Constance Lévesque, 2012), But I’m a Genderqueer (Lauren Soldano, 2011), All Under (Gunilla Leander, 2003, U.S. Premiere), Wildblood (Jonesy, 2011), and Maya Deren’s Sink (Barbara Hammer, 2011). THE BATTLE OF ALGIERS
(1966) Directed by Gillo Pontecorvo
November 2 – Monday – 7:00 p.m.

Considered among the most influential political films of all time, Gillo Pontecorvo’s The Battle of Algiers focuses on a specific and pivotal year in the Algerian struggle for independence from France in the 1950s. With violence escalating on both sides of the conflict, children pick up guns, women bomb cafés, and soldiers resort to torturing insurgents. The film, shot in documentary style on the actual streets of Algiers, takes a searing and honest look at modern warfare. Although nearly 50 years old, The Battle of Algiers is a film that still has striking relevance in today’s world. In French, Arabic, and English with English subtitles.

40 YEARS ON: SCREENING THE VIETNAM WAR

More than any war, the media that brought the Vietnam War home to American audiences defined that conflict. In remembrance of the 40th anniversary of the fall of Saigon—the symbolic end to the war—this film series investigates radically different views of this war than we have typically seen. By combining contemporary historical documentaries with films from those troubled times, this series presents a more inclusive vision of the Vietnam War, one that did not make it onto the nightly news or the front pages of newspapers. This series is sponsored by WTIU, IU Cinema, the Black Film Center/Archive, the Cinema and Media Studies program, The Media School, Indiana University Center for Documentary Research and Practice, and Veteran Support Services.

LAST DAYS IN VIETNAM
(2014) Directed by Rory Kennedy
September 3 – Thursday – 7:00 p.m.
Nominated for Best Documentary Film at the 2015 Oscars®, Rory Kennedy’s Last Days in Vietnam chronicles the remarkable final days of the Vietnam War during the fall of Saigon in April of 1975. Faced with advancing forces, the remnants of U.S. and South Vietnamese forces had to work hastily to help their sympathizers escape Saigon. Mixing historical footage with contemporary interviews featuring the people who were there, Last Days in Vietnam documents an important symbolic moment in American history. There will be a post-screening discussion. In English with Vietnamese subtitles. Free, but ticketed.

BLACK JOURNAL: THE BLACK G.I.

NO VIETNAMESE EVER CALLED ME NIGGER
(1968) Directed by David Loeb Weiss
December 3 – Thursday – 7:00 p.m.

Black Journal was a weekly public television newsmagazine in the late 1960s/early 1970s that examined the many issues pertinent to the black American experience at the time. This two-part episode, The Black G.I. (55 min.), focuses on the experiences of black G.I.s in the Vietnam War. It features frank discussions from soldiers, ranked officers, and politicians about the racism that defined the different experiences that black soldiers had in this war. While The Black G.I. focuses on black soldiers in Vietnam, No Vietnamese Ever Called Me Nigger (68 min.) instead trains its lenses on the experiences of black communities in New York during anti-war protests in 1967. Interviewing a variety of people in the streets, as well as black veterans, the film presents a portrait of a moment in American history that stands as a timely and needed reminder of the power of public protest and action. No Vietnamese Ever Called Me Nigger has been preserved with funding from the Carnegie Corporation of New York and the New York State Library, Division of Library Development and the print is provided courtesy of the Reserve Film and Video Collection of The New York Public Library for the Performing Arts. Contains strong language. There will be a post-screening discussion. Free, but ticketed.

MINERS SHOT DOWN
(2014) Directed by Rehad Desai
October 12 – Monday – 7:00 p.m.
In August 2012, mineworkers in a South Africa platinum mine began a wildcat strike for better wages. Six days later the police used live ammunition to brutally suppress the strike. This film follows the strike from day one, showing the isolated fight waged by a group of low-paid workers against the combined forces of the mining company Lonmin, the ANC government, and their allies in the National Union of Mineworkers. What emerges is collusion at the top, spiraling violence and the country’s first post-apartheid massacre. Contains mature content, including real-life violence and intense situations. Director Rehad Desai is scheduled to be present.

LIGHTNING OVER BRADDOCK
—A RUSTBOWL FANTASY
(1988) Directed by Tony Buba
October 22 – Thursday – 7:00 p.m.
Buba’s first feature film (the title a take-off of Wim Wenders’ Lightning Over Water [1980]) concerns a director—Buba, playing himself—trying to make a movie with street hustler Sal Carulli. Lightning Over Braddock also develops Buba’s style of the “exploded documentary,” fusing social documentary, autobiography, and whimsical fiction. Creating this style from multiple influences, from the immediacy of Third World Newsreel films and Kentucky Appalshop’s commitment to community to Luis Bunuel’s surrealism, he produces as eccentric a picture of industrial America’s decay as has emerged in decades. Lightning Over Braddock will be preceded by two of Buba’s short films: Betty’s Corner Café (1976, 12 min.) and Mill Hunk Herald (1981, 13 min.). Director Tony Buba is scheduled to be present.

STRUGGLES IN STEEL:
A HISTORY OF AFRICAN-AMERICAN STEELWORKERS
(1996) Directed by Tony Buba
October 23 – Friday – 6:30 p.m.
This documentary focuses on the Civil Rights Movement in the heavily segregated steel industry and its equally segregated union, The United Steelworkers of America (USWA), at the time when this industry—devastated by mismanagement and global competition—began to crumble. It is a powerful picture of black working-class life in the latter part of the 20th century, told in a combination of interviews and documentary footage. Through live testimonials and revelatory archival materials, Struggles shows the contributions of African Americans to the steel industry and to the labor movement more generally. Director Tony Buba is scheduled to be present.
Free, but ticketed.
(DigiBeta. 86 min. Not Rated.)

Independent documentarian Tony Buba chronicles the decline of former steel town Braddock, Pennsylvania, after U.S. steel mills closed and moved their operations overseas in the late 20th century. Buba’s focus on local blue-collar workers and other citizens reveals the impact that national decisions had and continue to have on ethnic and racial communities in the Pittsburgh area. Experimentally surreal and humorous, while expressing compassion for and political commitment to the working class, Buba’s films show how cities once central to America’s steel industry experience the devastating legacy of those decisions. Critic J. Hoberman called Buba one of the few regional filmmakers “to successfully and unsentimentally peel off the national smile button.” This series is a part of the College of Arts and Sciences’ Themester 2015: @Work: The Nature of Labor on a Changing Planet and is sponsored by the Department of History and IU Cinema.
KABUKICHÔ LOVE HOTEL
(2014) Directed by Ryuichi Hiroki
August 25 – Tuesday – 7:00 p.m.
Kabukichô Love Hotel follows the intersecting lives of employees and visitors over one day and one night at a “Love Hotel”—an establishment where visitors never linger long, but its employees labor late hours—in Tokyo’s titular Kabukichô district. EN EL HOYO (IN THE PIT) (2006) Directed by Juan Carlos Rulfo September 28 – Monday – 7:00 p.m. En el hoyo portrays the daily experiences, personal lives, and camaraderie of construction workers as they build the second story of Mexico City’s massive Periférico Freeway. Revealing both the nobility of some workers and the unseemliness of others, the film broaches the different ways that men and women endure and comprehend their undercompensated and often unacknowledged toil that remains hidden to millions of motorists and passersby. This screening in sponsored by the College of Arts and Sciences’ Themester 2015, the Department of Spanish and Portuguese, Latino Studies, and the Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies. Contains mature language. In Spanish with English subtitles. Free, but ticketed. (35mm. 84 min. Not Rated.)

LOVE AND SOLIDARITY IN THE STRUGGLE FOR LABOR RIGHTS: LEARNING FROM NONVIOLENT REVOLUTIONARY JAMES LAWSON (2014) Directed by Michael Honey November 10 – Tuesday – 7:00 p.m. Love and Solidarity chronicles the life of African American civil rights and labor activist James Lawson, who served as nonviolent theorist for Martin Luther King, Jr. For the last 30 years, Lawson has worked as a Methodist minister in Los Angeles using nonviolent direct action techniques to help immigrants and low-wage workers organize in service economy jobs. This screening is sponsored by the College of Arts and Sciences’ Themester 2015, the Black Film Center/Archive, the departments of History, African American and African Diaspora Studies, and Folklore and Ethnomusicology. Director Michael Honey is scheduled to be present. Free, but ticketed. (2K DCP. 35 min. Not Rated.)
KLUTE
(1971) Directed by Alan Pakula
September 19 – Saturday – 3:00 p.m.

Jane Fonda earned huge critical acclaim and her first Oscar® for her performance in this 1971 thriller directed by Alan J. Pakula, who would in later years direct other award-winning thrillers such as The Parallax View (1974) and All the President’s Men (1976). John Klute (Donald Sutherland) is hired to investigate the case of a missing business executive. In neo-noir style, this investigation leads him to New York City prostitute Bree Daniels (Fonda) as a source for information and suspicion. Contains mature content, including some nudity.

Free, but ticketed.
(35mm. 114 min. Rated R.)

DUCK SOUP
(1933) Directed by Leo McCarey
October 3 – Saturday – 3:00 p.m.

Hail Freedonia! The Marx Brothers (Groucho, Chico, Harpo, and Zeppo) wreak national havoc in this slapstick political satire, probably their best known and most beloved film. Bursting at the seams with irreverent antics, visual puns, caustic one-liners, mistaken identities, and surprisingly sharp political commentary, Duck Soup was largely ignored upon its initial release in 1933, but has since been recognized as one of the great American screen comedies.

Free, but ticketed.
(2K DCP. 70 min. Not Rated.)

SUNSET BOULEVARD
(1950) Directed by Billy Wilder
October 31 – Saturday – 3:00 p.m.

Arguably the most biting satire of Hollywood ever made, writer/director Billy Wilder employed silent-era star Gloria Swanson and silent-era director Erich von Stroheim as two of the three center pieces of this deliciously witty and deeply creepy story of a faded star trying to mount a comeback to a Hollywood studio system that has forgotten her. Rounding out the trio is William Holden, rarely in better form as the broke screenwriter hired—and then held captive—by Swanson’s aging star. Contains mild violence.

Free, but ticketed.
(2K DCP. 115 min. Not Rated.)
GUYS AND DOLLS
(1955) Directed by Joseph L. Mankiewicz
November 2 – Monday – 3:00 p.m.
Nathan Detroit, the fixer of New York’s longest established floating crap game, is feeling the heat on all sides. The cops are bearing down on him, his clientele have full wallets and itchy dice fingers, and his fiancée is demanding a wedding that’s been 14 years in the making. Desperate for cash to arrange his next game, Nathan makes a sucker bet with travelling high-roller Sky Masterson: woo the leader of the local save-a-soul mission, or lose $1,000. Both gambler and fixer get more than they bargained for when love and the law start to close in on their games and the stakes start to rise heavenward.
$3 all tickets.
(2K DCP. 150 min. Not Rated.)

BREAKFAST AT TIFFANY’S
(1961) Directed by Blake Edwards
December 7 – Monday – 3:00 p.m.
The names Audrey Hepburn and Holly Golightly have become synonymous since this dazzling romantic comedy was translated to the screen from Truman Capote’s best-selling novella. Holly is a deliciously eccentric New York City playgirl determined to marry a Brazilian millionaire. George Peppard plays her next-door neighbor, a writer who is “sponsored” by a wealthy Patricia Neal. Guessing who’s the right man for Holly is easy. Seeing just how that romance blossoms is one of the enduring delights of this gemlike treat set to Henry Mancini’s Oscar®-winning score and the Oscar®-winning Mancini-Johnny Mercer song “Moon River.”
$3 all tickets.
(2K DCP. 115 min. Not Rated.)

GUYS AND DOLLS
(1959) Directed by Michael Gordon
October 5 – Monday – 3:00 p.m.
Paired together for the first time onscreen in a romantic comedy, Doris Day and Rock Hudson hit it out of the park. Uptight interior decorator Jan Morrow (Day) and playboy composer Brad Allen (Hudson) are forced to share a telephone party line, whose calls overlap at the least convenient moments. Each anonymously despising the other, their worlds coincidentally collide, leading to a series of playful deceptions and flirtatious tricks that ultimately land the two in a compromising romantic quandary.
$3 all tickets.
(2K DCP. 102 min. Not Rated.)

Diabolique International Film Festival is presented by Diabolique Magazine, the fastest-growing publication in the world dedicated to genre cinema. The festival began nine years ago as the Dark Carnival Film Festival. Since 2007 it has screened more than 350 films from more than a dozen countries, and hosted visiting filmmakers from around the world.

Over the years, DIFF has gained a reputation as a festival that truly values independent genre films and the people who make them. As a result, the festival has been featured in a variety of national publications, having been recognized by MovieMaker Magazine as one of the “Top 25 Film Festivals Worth the Entry Fee,” and one of the “13 Horror Film Festivals to Die For.”

This year DIFF will be presenting awards for official festival selections in 11 categories, including Best Feature, Best Short, Best Screenplay, Best Editing, Best Cinematography, Best Director, Best Sound/Score, Best SFX, Best Actor, and Best Actress.

All Friday and Saturday screenings at IU Cinema are $6 each; festival passes are available for $25 and include admission for all Friday, Saturday, and Sunday screenings. For a complete schedule of events, visit diaboliquefilmfestival.com.

The Films That Inspired The Festival

In the Diabolique International Film Festival’s final year, the DIFF committee would like to share with you the films that inspired them to be festival programmers and filmmakers alike. Please join us for some of the most creative, exciting horror films from the last 40 years, and hear how they inspired the last decade of horror in Bloomington, Ind.

JAWS
(1975) Directed by Stephen Spielberg
September 25 – Friday – 6:30 p.m.
40th Anniversary Screening.

Directed by Academy Award®-winner Steven Spielberg, Jaws set the standard for edge-of-your-seat suspense, quickly becoming a cultural phenomenon and forever changing the movie industry. When the seaside community of Amity finds itself under attack by a dangerous great white shark, the town’s chief of police (Roy Scheider), a young marine biologist (Richard Dreyfuss) and a grizzled shark hunter (Robert Shaw) embark on a desperate quest to destroy the beast before it strikes again.

$6 all tickets/$25 festival pass.
(2K DCP. 124 min. Rated PG.)

FRIGHT NIGHT
(1985) Directed by Tom Holland
September 25 – Friday – 11:59 p.m.
30th Anniversary Screening.

A teenage horror-film addict is shocked to discover his new next-door neighbor is a vampire. The problems only grow for young Charley Brewster when he expresses his thoughts about fanged new neighbor Jerry Dandridge. His girlfriend, Amy, thinks Charley is avoiding their relationship, his single mom thinks Dandridge could be a potential boyfriend, and his buddy “Evil” just thinks Charley’s losing it.

$6 all tickets/$25 festival pass.
(2K DCP. 106 min. Rated R.)

THE LOST BOYS
(1987) Directed by Joel Schumacher
September 25 – Friday – 9:30 p.m.

In this hit ‘80s hybrid of the horror movie and the teen flick, a single mom and her two sons become involved with a pack of vampires when they move to an offbeat Northern California town.

$6 all tickets/$25 festival pass.
(35mm. 92 min. Rated R.)
TREMORS
(1990) Directed by Ron Underwood
October 9 – Friday – 9:30 p.m.

Two country handymen lead a cast of zany characters to higher ground in this sci-fi comedy about slimy subterranean creatures hell bent on eating the entire town. Just as Val McKee (Kevin Bacon) and Earl Bassett (Fred Ward) decide to leave Perfection, Nevada, strange rumblings prevent their departure. With the help of a seismology student (Finn Carter), they discover their desolate town is infested with gigantic man-eating creatures that live below ground.

$3 all tickets.
(2K DCP. 96 min. Rated PG-13.)

---

POLTERGEIST
(1982) Directed by Tobe Hooper
October 16 – Friday – 9:30 p.m.

After moving in to their new suburban house, the Bowens are ready to start their new life. But the ghosts of the home’s past have other machinations. Youngest daughter Maddy’s imaginary friend goes from childhood novelty to terrifying reality when sinister spirits start to wreak havoc. Her parents have no choice but to bring in parapsychologists to try to wrestle Maddy back from the supernatural forces holding her captive.

$3 all tickets.

THE EVIL DEAD
(1982) Directed by Sam Raimi
October 23 – Friday – 9:30 p.m.

Originally released in 1982, The Evil Dead tells the tale of a group of friends who go to a cabin in the woods, where they find an unspeakable evil lurking in the forest. They find the Necronomicon, the Book of the Dead, and the taped translation of the text. Once the tape is played, the evil is released. One by one, the teens become deadly zombies. With only one remaining (Bruce Campbell), it is up to him to survive the night and battle The Evil Dead.

$3 all tickets.
(35mm. 85 min. Rated NC-17.)
MOMMIE DEAREST
(1981) Directed by Frank Perry
October 30 – Friday – 9:30 p.m.

Based on the best-selling memoir by Christina Crawford, Mommie Dearest pulls back the curtain on life with Joan Crawford. This campy adaptation features an over-the-top portrayal of Crawford by Faye Dunaway as an intensely terrifying and abusive monster of an adoptive mother, who could give any horror-film antagonists a run for their money.

$3 all tickets.
(2K DCP, 129 min. Rated R.)

ADDITIONAL FRIDAY NIGHTFRIGHTS FILMS

SERIAL MOM
(1994) Directed by John Waters
October 2 – Friday – 10:00 p.m.
See page 12 for details.
This series is presented in partnership with The Media School and the Cinema and Media Studies program. Thanks to the Underground programming team that includes Joan Hawkins, Eric Zobel, Jamie Hook, Chris Miles, Megan Brown, Alex Swanson, and Ryan Powell.

THE OUTRAGEOUS BARON MUNCHAUSEN (BARON PRÁSIL) (1962) Directed by Karel Zeman
September 18 – Friday – 6:30 p.m.
Karel Zeman’s 1962 film The Outrageous Baron Munchausen (Baron Prásil) takes as its starting point the tales of the fictional German nobleman of the title. Worlds collide when a young astronaut, Tommy, finds the rococo braggart on the moon and the two explorers set off together on a series of fantastical adventures. Setting the action against deliberately artificial backgrounds, the film mixes live action with animation and stop-motion to tell a story that is as outrageous as the title promises. In Czech with English subtitles.
Free, but ticketed.
(HD. 83 min. Not Rated.)

October 30 – Friday – 6:30 p.m.
Immortalized as its Master of Suspense, Alfred Hitchcock nevertheless also radically challenged the Hollywood system’s norms and cinematic language. The explicitly experimental filmmakers featured in this program have in turn appropriated Hitchcock’s work as their own raw material. First, Les Leveque renders Hitchcock dizzyingly kaleidoscopic with 2 Spellbound and 4 Vertigo. Next, Rea Tajiri’s Hitchcock Trilogy offers poetic deconstructions of Vertigo, Psycho, and Torn Curtain. Finally, Psykho III The Musical is queer video artist Tom Rubnitz’s filmic restaging of Mark Oates’ camp reenactment of Psycho.
Free, but ticketed.
(2K DCP. 54 min. Not Rated.)

PUNISHMENT PARK (1971) Directed by Peter Watkins
October 16 – Friday – 6:30 p.m.
Peter Watkins’s brutal documentary-style Punishment Park follows two groups of young political dissidents: one during a tribunal hearing, and the second in the Punishment Park trial, a desperate race through 53 miles of desert. Prisoners found guilty by the tribunal are given a choice: prison time, or, upon completion of the Punishment Park exercise, freedom. However, with National Guardsmen in close pursuit of the prisoners, hostility and violence quickly erupts. Exploring themes of police brutality, security politics, and human survival psychology, Punishment Park is as relevant and shocking today as it was over 40 years ago. Contain mature content, including violence, brutality, and language.
Free, but ticketed.
(35mm. 88 min. Rated R.)

ADDITIONAL UNDERGROUND FILMS
QUEER MYTHOLOGIES // QUEER HISTORIES (2003–12) Directed by multiple directors
October 9 – Friday – 6:30 p.m.
See page 21 for details.
Reflecting the explosion of hip-hop scholarship in the past two decades, The History and Craft of Hip-Hop is a celebration of the extraordinary level of technique and artistry involved in hip-hop music. The three films serve as a chronicle of best practices in hip-hop, focusing on rap but touching on each of the other three original hip-hop art forms—graffiti, breakdancing, and turntablism—as well, and ultimately offering a multi-faceted view of a living and electrifying art form. This series is sponsored by the Jacobs School of Music and the Department of Folklore and Ethnomusicology.

WILD STYLE
(1983) Directed by Charlie Ahearn
October 3 – Saturday – 7:00 p.m.

With its ad-libbed dialogue, cast of non-actors, and thin plotline, Wild Style is more a documentary than a feature film. Set in the urban decay of early-1980s New York City, the film ostensibly follows the early career of Zoro, a young graffiti artist. But its primary purpose is to offer authentic, virtuosic displays of the four original art forms of hip-hop culture, culminating in an extended concert scene that features some of hip-hop’s legendary performers. Contains strong language.
Free, but ticketed.
(HD. 82 min. Rated R.)

SOMETHING FROM NOTHING: THE ART OF RAP
(2012) Directed by Ice-T
November 6 – Friday – 7:00 p.m.

In Ice-T’s documentary, the greatest rappers ever to hold a mic—among them Grandmaster Caz, Kool Moe Dee, Q-Tip, Rakim, and Eminem—discuss the minutiae of their craft, from rhyme schemes to flow to lyrical topics to vocal production. Along the way, viewers are treated to freestyle rhymes by each of the artists, as well as discussions of the qualities they value most in rap and excerpts from their own favorite rap songs. Contains strong language.
Free, but ticketed.
(HD. 113 min. Not Rated.)

FREESTYLE: THE ART OF RHYME
(2005) Directed by Kevin Fitzgerald
October 24 – Saturday – 7:00 p.m.

Freestyle examines the art of improvisation, a musical practice common to every genre, and one that connects contemporary hip-hop to its roots. Focusing primarily on improvised rapping by underground hip-hop artists, the film also contains rare footage of some of rap’s precursors, such as sermons, toasts, and the spoken-word performances of the Last Poets. But its many displays of skillful, improvised rhyming make Freestyle a stunning celebration of rappers at their most brilliant. Contains strong language.
Free, but ticketed.

Ukraine was a vibrant center for filmmaking in the Soviet Union, but in the tumultuous years of the 1990s—during which Ukraine became an independent state and underwent wrenching economic, social, and political transformations—Ukrainian cinema fell into a comatose state. The last decade has witnessed two revolutions in the new Ukraine, as well as what some observers call a “new wave” of Ukrainian cinema. The New Ukrainian Cinema film series features films by two of the most exciting young Ukrainian filmmakers to emerge in this revitalized atmosphere: Dmytro Moyseyev and Myroslav Slaboshpytskiy. This series is sponsored by the Russian and East European Institute, the Cinema and Media Studies program, and the departments of Sociology, International Studies, Speech and Hearing Sciences, Anthropology, and Recreation, Park, and Tourism Studies (School of Public Health).

SUCH BEAUTIFUL PEOPLE

(2013) Directed by Dmytro Moyseyev
September 29 – Tuesday – 7:00 p.m.

This gorgeous movie—artfully composed in a muted sandy palette with exquisite attention to visual detail—takes place on the shores of the Black Sea in Crimea, where a group of neighbors seek tranquility and fulfillment fishing and striving to live lives of meaning, outside the bustle and cynicism of city life. This is a film about universal themes of human interaction and love and explores the full range of human desires and relationships. Such Beautiful People is a gentle story of gentle people striving to make their lives better, to find true happiness, and to better understand one another. In Ukrainian language with English subtitles.

Free, but ticketed.
(HD. 94 min. Not Rated.)

THE TRIBE

(2014) Directed by Myroslav Slaboshpytskiy
December 8 – Tuesday – 7:00 p.m.

Serhiy, a deaf teenager, enters a specialized boarding school where, to survive, he becomes part of a wild organization—the Tribe. His love for one of the concubines will unwillingly lead him to break all the unwritten rules within the Tribe’s hierarchy. This unsettling film compels viewers to ponder the ethics and effects of social exile of the disabled and different, as well as humans’ propensity to dominate and abuse one another. The actors communicate only through sign language, and the film includes no spoken dialogue or incidental music. Contains mature content, graphic nudity, and violence. In Sign languages with English subtitles.

Free, but ticketed.
(2K DCP. 127 min. Rated R.)
In the aftermath of the Second World War, Europe relied on immigrants for economic growth. Over the past two decades filmmakers have found the experience of Muslim immigrants especially salient as they consider questions of individual identity formation and community belonging. These films concentrate on the daily life and struggles of minority immigrant communities in France, Germany, and the United Kingdom and reveal the complexities of Euro-Muslim culture, religion, and identity today. This series is sponsored by the Institute for European Studies, Center for the Study of the Middle East, Turkish Language Flagship Center, and the Inner Asian and Uralic National Resource Center.

LA Haine
(1995) Directed by Mathieu Kassovitz
October 27 – Tuesday – 7:00 p.m.

A dramatic story of bleak desperation in Paris’s “suburban” ghettos, La Haine was hailed when first screened for its moving depiction of an often ignored side of France. Today, its focus on three desperate young men and their reaction to police violence make its story significant for American audiences as well as French ones. Contains mature content, including violence, drug use, brief nudity, and strong language throughout.

In French with English subtitles.
Free, but ticketed.
(HD. 98 min. Not Rated.)

GEGEN DIE WAND (HEAD-ON)
(2004) Directed by Fatih Akin
November 17 – Tuesday – 7:00 p.m.

Pain and struggle to belong to a place, a person, a culture, and a country unfolds in this raw tense love story emblematic of immigrant experience in Germany. Cahit wants to reject his Turkish background; Sibel wishes to please her parents yet escape their conservative control. They join together in a search for freedom, their journey revealing the power and limitations of personal choice. Contains mature content, including strong graphic sexuality, pervasive language, some brutal violence, and drug content. In German and Turkish with English subtitles.
Free, but ticketed.
(35mm. 121 min. Rated R.)

MY SON THE FANATIC
(1997) Directed by Udayan Prasad
December 1 – Tuesday – 7:00 p.m.

In Europe today, the children of immigrants are often more religiously devout than are their parents. Based on Hanif Kureishi’s short story of the same title, My Son the Fanatic explores this dynamic through the lives of an easy-going Pakistan-born taxi driver, his prostitute girlfriend, and his increasingly “tradition”-minded son. Contains mature content, including sexuality, language and a scene of drug use.
Free, but ticketed.
(35mm. 87 min. Rated R.)
With a filmography spanning over 40 years, Senegal’s Ousmane Sembène (1923–2007) earned international renown as a revolutionary artist and as the Father of African Cinema for his indigenized filmmaking practice. Sembène eschewed Western languages and narrative style for a new cinematic aesthetic drawing from African storytelling traditions, performed in African languages (Wolof, Diola, Bambara), and expressly produced for African audiences. As Samba Gadjibo quotes Sembène: “Africa is my ‘audience’ while the West and the ‘rest’ are only targeted as ‘markets.’” Fifty years on from his first feature production, we celebrate his legacy with a new documentary and two recent digital restorations. This series is sponsored by the Black Film Center/Archive, The Media School, the Cinema and Media Studies program, and the departments of African Studies, French and Italian, and Comparative Literature.

LA NOIRE DE … (BLACK GIRL) (1965) & BOROM SARRET (THE WAGONER) (1963)
Directed by Ousmane Sembène
October 19 – Monday – 7:00 p.m.

Ousmane Sembène’s first feature, La Noire de … (Black Girl) follows a young Senegalese woman who imagines a glamorous life for herself in Marseille as she begins working for a bourgeois French family. She soon discovers that life as a domestic is a dehumanizing experience not far removed from slavery. La Noire de … earned awards for Sembène at Senegal’s Festival Mondial des Arts Nègres and France’s Festival de Cannes (the prestigious Prix Jean Vigo). Also screening is Sembène’s earlier short, Borom Sarret (The Wagoner) the story of a poor cart driver struggling in postcolonial Dakar. Samba Gadjigo and Jason Silverman are scheduled to be present. In French with English subtitles.
Free, but ticketed.
(2K DCP. 85 min. Not Rated.)

SEMBÈNE!
(2015) Directed by Samba Gadjigo and Jason Silverman
October 20 – Tuesday – 7:00 p.m.

Reviewing its 2015 premiere at Sundance, Bilge Ebiri wrote that, of all the festival’s films this year, “no film demonstrated the power of cinema more resonantly than Sembène!” The documentary chronicles Ousmane Sembène’s fascinating life as a militant artist, self-taught novelist, and “Father of African Cinema.” Using rare archival footage, animation, and the firsthand experience of Sembène expert and colleague Samba Gadjigo, the filmmakers present an honest and complex portrait. Sembène! emerges also as Gadjigo’s story, as he recounts the ways that Sembène’s work transformed his life. Directors Samba Gadjigo and Jason Silverman are scheduled to be present. Free, but ticketed.
(2K DCP. 82 min. Not Rated.)
Although he started his career as a popular singer, by the 1950s, Francis Albert Sinatra was every bit as much a movie star. He was the epitome of popular culture. His music, films, style, and attitude influenced an entire generation and his influence still ripples throughout today’s pop culture. Not only a talented artist, Sinatra utilized his global celebrity to fight bigotry and racism on a personal and international scale, speaking up for his friends and fellow artists who were often not allowed to stay in the same hotels that housed the stages on which they performed. He is, was, and will always be the Chairman of the Board. This film series celebrates the highlights of his cinematic career in honor of what would have been his 100th birthday, December 12, 2015.

THE MAN WITH THE GOLDEN ARM
(1955) Directed by Otto Preminger
November 14 – Saturday – 3:00 p.m.

Based on the novel by Nelson Algren, The Man With the Golden Arm features Sinatra as strung-out junkie Frankie Machine, who is an expert card dealer and heroin addict. Trying to get his life back in order after being released from prison, Frankie is determined to get clean of the drugs and the gambling. Eleanor Parker stars as Frankie’s jealous and wheelchair-bound wife with Kim Novak playing sympathetic B-girl Molly trying to help Frankie go cold turkey. Print courtesy of the Academy Film Archive.

$3 all tickets.
(35mm. 119 min. Not Rated.)

FROM HERE TO ETERNITY
(1953) Directed by Fred Zinneman
December 5 – Saturday – 3:00 p.m.

Passion and tragedy collide in this landmark film set on a fateful December day in 1941 Hawaii. Loosely based on the James Jones debut novel, From Here to Eternity focuses on the aspirations and frustrations of the intertwined lives on the Schofield Army Barracks in Honolulu in the days leading up to the attack on Pearl Harbor. Sinatra’s role as Angelo Maggio, best friend to Robert E. Lee Prewitt (Montgomery Clift), would prove life-altering for the star. Winner of eight Oscars®, including Best Picture, Best Director, and Best Adapted Screenplay, From Here to Eternity delivered a Best Supporting Actor award for Sinatra and brought his career back from the brink. The House I Live In, directed by Mervyn LeRoy, (1945, 10 min.) will precede the feature. Created with the intention to oppose anti-Semitism and racial prejudice at the end of WWII, this film starring Sinatra was selected in 2007 for preservation in the U.S. National Film Registry by the Library of Congress. The House I Live In print is provided courtesy of the Indiana University Libraries Moving Image Archive.

$3 all tickets.
(2K DCP/16mm. 128 min. Not Rated.)

OCEAN’S 11
(1960) Directed by Lewis Milestone
December 12 – Saturday – 7:00 p.m.

New Year’s Eve in Las Vegas. Roulette wheels spin, cards snap, slots chime, champagne fizzes, shows go on... and the lights go out. It’s the perfect time to steal a kiss or a $25 chip. But for Danny Ocean and 10 partners in crime, it’s the ideal moment to steal millions. Sinatra and his off-screen Rat Pack pals Dean Martin, Sammy Davis Jr., Peter Lawford, and Joey Bishop play army buddies who scheme to knock out power to the Vegas strip, electronically rig five big casino vaults, and raid them all at the same instant.

$3 all tickets.
(35mm. 127 min. Not Rated)

GUYs AND DOLLS
(1965) Directed by Joseph L. Mankiewicz
November 2 – Monday – 3:00 p.m.

See page 29 for details.
In the ’80s, it seemed too far in the future. But the date is now upon us. Celebrate Back to the Future Day, October 21, 2015, at the IU Cinema. We will be screening all three films. You decide if you want to start in the future and work your way backwards, or vice versa. This event is not ticketed, and seating will be on a first-come, first-served basis. Start times are approximate.

BACK TO THE FUTURE
(1985) Directed by Robert Zemeckis
October 21 – Wednesday – 1:00 p.m.
October 21 – Wednesday – 9:00 p.m.

From the Academy Award®-winning filmmakers Steven Spielberg and Robert Zemeckis comes Back to the Future—the original, groundbreaking adventure that sparked one of the most successful trilogies ever. When teenager Marty McFly (Michael J. Fox) is blasted to 1955 in the DeLorean time machine created by the eccentric Doc Brown (Christopher Lloyd), he finds himself mixed up in a time-shattering chain reaction that could vaporize his future—and leave him trapped in the past.

Free, no ticket required.
(2K DCP. 116 min. Rated PG.)

BACK TO THE FUTURE PART II
(1989) Directed by Robert Zemeckis
October 21 – Wednesday – 3:00 p.m.
October 21 – Wednesday – 7:00 p.m.

Getting back was only the beginning as the most spectacular time-travel adventure ever continues in Back to the Future Part II—the sequel that proves that lightning can strike twice! Picking up precisely where they left off, Marty and Doc launch themselves to the year 2015 to fine-tune the future and inadvertently disrupt the space-time continuum. Now, their only chance to fix the present is by going back to 1955 all over again before it is too late.

Free, no ticket required.
(2K DCP. 108 min. Rated PG.)

BACK TO THE FUTURE PART III
(1990) Directed by Robert Zemeckis
October 21 – Wednesday – 5:00 p.m.

They’ve saved the biggest trip for last as the most popular time-traveling movie trilogy ever comes to a rousing conclusion in Back to the Future Part III. Stranded in 1955 after a freak accident, Marty McFly discovers he must travel back to 1885 to rescue Doc Brown before he becomes smitten with school teacher Clara Clayton (Mary Steenburgen). Now, it’s up to Marty to keep Doc out of trouble, get the DeLorean running, and put the past, present, and future on track so they can all get back to where—and when—they belong.

Free, no ticket required.
(2K DCP. 118 min. Rated PG.)
THE GOONIES
(1985) Directed by Richard Donner
August 29 – Saturday – 3:00 p.m.

30th Anniversary Screening.
A group of childhood friends band together to find a pirate’s ancient treasure in order to save their neighborhood from being developed into a golf course. When Mikey (Sean Astin) discovers a crumbling treasure map in his parents’ attic, he and his friends have no choice but to go on (perhaps) their final adventure together to discover the famed pirate One-Eyed Willy’s hidden fortune. It’s the only way to save the “Goon Docks” and their Goonies way of life.
Free, children age 12 and younger; $3 all other tickets.
(35mm. 114 min. Rated PG.)

MY NEIGHBOR TOTORO
(1988) Directed by Hayao Miyazaki
October 17 – Saturday – 3:00 p.m.

On the surface, My Neighbor Totoro is the simple tale of two sisters, Satsuki and Mei. The two move to a new countryside home with their father, where they discover the nearby forests are home to a family of Totoros, powerful, giant creatures who inhabit the trees and can only be seen by children. However, as with many of Hayao Miyazaki’s works, beneath the film’s simple narrative lies great wisdom. At its core, My Neighbor Totoro is an introspective look at humans relationship to Earth.
Free, children age 12 and younger; $3 all other tickets.
(2K DCP. 86 min. Rated G.)

THE SOUND OF MUSIC
(1965) Directed by Robert Wise
December 11 – Friday – 7:00 p.m.

50th Anniversary Screening. Julie Andrews and Christopher Plummer star in this beloved family classic from Rodgers and Hammerstein. The Sound of Music chronicles the adventures of spirited, young nun-in-training Maria as she leaves her convent to become the governess to seven unruly children. Maria enlivens their world and wins over their hearts, as well as their father, Captain Georg von Trapp. When invading German Nazis threaten their way of life, the family must attempt a daring escape.
$3 all tickets.
(2K DCP. 174 min. Rated G.)

THE SOUND OF MUSIC QUOTE-ALONG

The Birth of a Nation

(1915) Directed by D.W. Griffith
November 12 – Thursday – 6:30 p.m.

D.W. Griffith’s The Birth of a Nation is one of the most important works in the history of world cinema, a landmark achievement in visual storytelling, but also unabashedly racist propaganda. A thrilling epic, the film chronicles the saga of two families, one Confederate and one Union, through the Civil War and Reconstruction. After screening it at the White House, President Woodrow Wilson declared the film “writing history with lightning.”

Live accompaniment provided by pianist Rodney Sauer. The 35mm print is preserved by the Museum of Modern Art with support from the Lillian Gish Trust for Film Preservation. Contains racially objectionable content.

Free, but ticketed.
(35mm. 186 min. Not Rated.)

The Birth of a Nation

FROM CINEMATIC PAST TO FAST FORWARD PRESENT: D.W. GRIFFITH’S THE BIRTH OF A NATION—A CENTENNIAL SYMPOSIUM

Occasioned by the centennial of The Birth of a Nation, the Black Film Center/Archive at Indiana University is hosting a two-day symposium, “From Cinematic Past to Fast Forward Present: D.W. Griffith’s The Birth of a Nation—A Centennial Symposium,” November 12–13, to assess the film’s legacy and significance in the contemporary period. The symposium is comprised of keynote addresses by distinguished film scholars Melvyn Stokes (University College London) and Linda Williams (University of California, Berkeley); three panels exploring the film’s relevance to race relations, immigration, media representations of race, and inequality in the American experience; and a roundtable discussion of the film’s pedagogical utility. The public is encouraged to attend and participate in the symposium’s deliberations and activities. The Birth of a Nation symposium is sponsored by the Black Film Center/Archive in partnership with The Media School and IU Cinema with the support of grants from New Frontiers/New Currents, the College of Arts and Humanities Institute, and the Ostrom Program. For more information, visit www.indiana.edu/~bfca/events.
Rodney Sauer studied at the Oberlin Conservatory while majoring in chemistry at Oberlin College and has made a career in performing and recording dance and film music. He has researched historic practices of silent film orchestras, and his article on the history and use of “photoplay music” was published in the American Music Research Center Journal. While Sauer is best known for his work as director and score compiler for the Mont Alto Motion Picture Orchestra, a chamber quintet that revives the “library compilation” method used by silent film theater orchestras, he also improvises and composes music for silent films as a solo artist. With Mont Alto, Sauer has performed nationwide from Lincoln Center in Manhattan to Grauman’s Egyptian Theater on Hollywood Boulevard, and he is a regular at the San Francisco Silent Film Festival, the Denver Silent Film Festival, and the Telluride Film Festival.

BEN-HUR: A TALE OF THE CHRIST

(1925) Directed by Fred Niblo
November 13 – Friday – 7:00 p.m.

Based on the best-selling novel of the 1800s by Indiana Civil War General Lew Wallace, this epic silent film recounts the adventures of Judah Ben-Hur, a fictional Jewish prince, who is enslaved by the Romans and becomes a chariotteer and a Christian. Running in parallel with Judah’s narrative is the unfolding story of Jesus. This 1925 film adaptation is more faithful to Lew Wallace’s work than the 1959 film, and reflects themes of betrayal, conviction, and redemption, with a revenge plot that leads to a story of love and compassion. Ben-Hur is the most expensive film of the silent era and extras in the film include such stars as John Barrymore, Gary Cooper, Clark Gable, Carole Lombard, Joan Crawford, Douglas Fairbanks, and Mary Pickford. Live accompaniment provided by pianist Rodney Sauer. Preceding the film will be a preview of the new documentary Lew Wallace: Shiloh Soldier / Ben-Hur Bard, premiering in late 2015 on WTIU. This screening is sponsored by WTIU. Free, but ticketed.

U.S. PREMIERE OF A NEW ORCHESTRAL SCORE

This presentation of Blackmail with orchestral accompaniment marks another major collaboration with the Jacobs School of Music. Since opening, IU Cinema has collaborated with the Jacobs School of Music on multiple silent feature films with a student orchestra and maestro, as well as premieres of new scores for student films.

Neil Brand has been accompanying silent films for over 30 years, regularly in London at the Barbican, and at film festivals around the world, including the Bologna and Pordenone festivals where he inaugurated the School of Music and Image. He has made his name as a performer and composer, scoring British Film Institute video releases for dozens of silent films. Neil is considered one of the finest improvising piano accompanists in the world, but also a prolific radio playwright and actor who appears frequently on television, stage, and screen. Neil Brand’s fruitful relationship with the BBC Symphony Orchestra has resulted in London performances of his acclaimed orchestral score for Alfred Hitchcock’s Blackmail (commissioned by Cinema Ritrovato, Bologna), which will play five times in four different countries this year, including the U.S. Premiere at IU Cinema.

Blackmail (1929) Directed by Alfred Hitchcock

November 7 – Saturday – 7:00 p.m.

Based on a Charles Bennett play of the same name, Alfred Hitchcock’s taut thriller focuses on Frank Webber, a Scotland Yard detective and his girlfriend Alice White. As their relationship becomes rocky, an incident with another man leaves Alice as the prime suspect in one of Frank’s investigations and the couple a target of blackmail from a mysterious third party. Originally made as a silent film, the studio had Hitchcock reshoot parts as a “talkie” and two versions of the film were released to British cinemas. Presented with live orchestral accompaniment and the U.S. premiere of a new musical score by Neil Brand. Composer Neil Brand is scheduled to be present.

These screenings are made possible thanks to the generous support of Old National Bank.

GLOBAL UPRISINGS SHORT FILMS NIGHT ONE
(2011–12) Directed by Brandon Jourdan and Marianne Maeckelbergh

SCENES FROM A REVOLT SUSTAINED
(2014) Directed by Matt Peterson, Luhuna Carvalho, Nate Lavey
October 5 – Monday – 7:00 p.m.

In December 2010, after a Tunisian food cart vendor had his produce confiscated by the police, he set himself on fire in rebellion against repressive state forces. This single fire quickly spread into a conflagration of revolt that eventually became known as the Arab Spring. Only months later, this fire returned to the streets of Greece, while plaza occupations modeled on Cairo’s Tahrir Square were replicated across Spain, Portugal, and the U.S. Short films include: The Greek Revolt (2011), The Battle of Oakland (2012), and Madrid on the Brink (2012).

Director Matt Peterson is scheduled to be present.
Free, but ticketed.
(2K DCP. 127 min. Not Rated.)

GLOBAL UPRISINGS SHORT FILMS NIGHT TWO
(2013–14) Directed by Brandon Jourdan and Marianne Maeckelbergh

October 6 – Tuesday – 7:00 p.m.

After the new Egyptian State violently suppressed the revolutionary movement that brought down the former regime and American police forces evicted Occupy camps across the country, it seemed to many this wave of unprecedented international unrest was an anomaly finally coming to an end. Few expected 2013–14 would give rise to massive, leaderless insurrections across Turkey, Brazil, and Bosnia while reigniting radical social movements across the U.S., Europe, and Mexico.

Short films include: Egyptian Winter (2013), Bosnia and Herzegovina in Spring (2014), and The Taksim Commune (2013).

Free, but ticketed.
(2K DCP. 95 min. Not Rated.)
TIME BANDITS
(1981) Directed by Terry Gilliam
Free Screening at Bryan Park!
August 21 – Friday – Begins at dusk, rain date is August 22
Eleven-year-old Kevin is bored with his parents’ obsession for gadgets and tired of being ignored. When a band of motley time-traveling dwarves stumble out of his wardrobe, he strikes out on a wayward adventure through time in search of the perfect treasures to steal.
Time Bandits is a darkly mischievous and playful tale of time travel, evil, and maps, from the comedic minds of Monty Python’s Terry Gilliam and Michael Palin. For up-to-the-minute information on weather-related cancellations, call the Bloomington Parks and Recreation Community Events Hotline at (812) 349-3754.
Free, no ticket required.

THE CABINET OF DR. CALIGARI (DAS CABINET DES DR. CALIGARI)
(1920) Directed by Robert Wiene
September 21 – Monday – 7:00 p.m.
This brilliant movie jolted the postwar masses and catapulted the movement known as German Expressionism into film history.
Called by Roger Ebert “the first true horror film,” it plunges audiences into a nightmare realm in which light, shadow, and substance are abstracted and set in eerie counterpoint with the depraved acts of Dr. Caligari (Werner Krauss) and the Sleepwalker (Conrad Veidt). This restoration was scanned from the (mostly) preserved camera negative at the German Federal Film Archive, with English subtitles and a score by the Musikhochshule, Freiburg.

HEDWIG AND THE ANGRY INCH
(2001) Directed by John Cameron Mitchell
October 13 – Tuesday – 7:00 p.m.
Winning audience and best director awards at the Sundance Film Festival, Hedwig and the Angry Inch follows the life story of an East Berlin transsexual punk-rock woman who sets out in association with the Max Reger Festival hosted by the Jacobs School of Music, on September 25–27, and is sponsored by the Jacobs School of Music in partnership with the Max Reger Foundation of America, David V. Cox, Founder and Chairman, with special support from Professor Janette Fishell and in-kind support from Professor Andrew Mead.
Free, but ticketed.

COUNTING FROM INFINITY
to tour America with her band, following the former lover/bandmate who stole her songs. Stage productions have played for many years in Japan, and Korea hosted a TV reality show about the search for a new Hedwig. IU alumna Harriet Newman Leve was one of the producers that brought Hedwig to Broadway in 2014, featuring Neil Patrick Harris as the title character; the production received four 2014 Tony Awards, including Best Revival of a Musical, Best Featured Actor in a Musical, Best Supporting Actress in a Musical and Best Lighting Design of a Musical. This screening is sponsored by the Office of the Executive Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. Stage Producer Harriet Newman Leve is scheduled to be present.

IT MIGHT GET LOUD
(2008) Directed by David Guggenheim
October 17 – Saturday – 7:00 p.m.

The history of music is as varied as it is vibrant. There may be no finer example of that vibrancy than the electric guitar. It Might Get Loud is a celebration of the instrument. The film follows three of the most influential guitarists of the last 50 years: Led Zeppelin’s Jimmy Page, U2’s The Edge, and Jack White, and it explores their own personal histories and relationships with the instrument. Equal parts documentary, live performance, and character study, It Might Get Loud is as riveting a film as the instrument it celebrates. This screening is sponsored by Professor Michael McGerr who is a part of the Department of History and WUX-LP, Pure Student Radio.

Free, but ticketed.
(35mm. 98 min. Rated PG.)

COUNTING FROM INFINITY: YITANG ZHANG AND THE TWIN PRIME CONJECTURE
(2015) Directed by George Csicsery
November 9 – Monday – 7:00 p.m.

In April 2013, a lecturer at the University of New Hampshire submitted a paper to the Annals of Mathematics, the premier math journal. Within weeks word spread—an unknown mathematician, with no permanent job, working in complete isolation, had made an important breakthrough on the Twin Prime Conjecture. The film recounts Zhang’s rise from obscurity to mathematical celebrity. The story of quiet perseverance amidst adversity is interwoven with a history of the Twin Prime Conjecture. This screening is sponsored by the Indiana University Department of Mathematics and the Center for Documentary Research and Practice.

Free, but ticketed.

Our achievements to date are the culmination of many people’s contributions of time, financial gifts, hard work, and intellectual and creative thought. Along with support from many individuals, the commitment to the arts (including IU Cinema) by Indiana University’s administration and faculty is unparalleled. Everyone involved seems to share a common vision, which is to establish on IU’s Bloomington campus ... a place for film.” Together, we are building a place and program like no other. In addition to hundreds of people who have volunteered their time and energy, we have the following contributors to thank:

The Indiana University Cinema is an independent academic unit that reports to the Office of the Provost. In support of Indiana University’s longstanding commitment to excellence, research, and public engagement in the arts, the IU Cinema’s Creative Collaborations program provides a platform for making IU’s intellectual and cultural assets accessible and visible through campus- and community-wide thematic film programming, creating a space for making the arts and humanities at IUB robustly public-facing through strong and innovative outreach throughout the Bloomington campus and community.

To facilitate diverse and inclusive film programming partnerships across campus and community, the IU Cinema utilizes a Program Advisory Board to review and approve Creative Collaborations partnership requests each semester. The board consists of members from most of the 14 schools across the Bloomington campus, as well as an undergraduate student representative and a community member representative.

In its first four years, the Cinema has been privileged to partner with over 100 campus and community partners on more than 300 screenings, which has led to enriching and engaging programming for university faculty, staff, and students, as well as Bloomington community members.

A guest is scheduled to be present.
In January 2016, the IU Cinema celebrates its fifth anniversary. As we look back through the years, we know the Cinema has been able to make its mark on the campus and surrounding community so profoundly only through the unwavering support of our Cinema patrons. We want to thank you for helping establish the Cinema as a gem on IU’s Bloomington campus. Of course, there is always opportunity to grow, so we invite you to play a pivotal role in helping us expand our reach. Invest in the Cinema’s mission to make great films and an incredible theatrical experience accessible to our entire community.

BUILDING OUR FUTURE
Did you know you can have your name live in perpetuity as part of the IU Cinema legacy by purchasing a Cinema seat? Currently we have more than 70 seats secured by loyal supporters like you, and we would love to see your name on your favorite Cinema chair! Or perhaps you want to support our guest filmmaker visits, or Cinema film programming?

Whatever best suits your wishes to provide support, we can make it happen together! You can find more information regarding these opportunities at our website cinema.indiana.edu/support or by contacting Brittany D. Friesner at bdfriesn@indiana.edu.

CREATIVE COLLABORATIONS
The Cinema has been privileged to partner with more than 100 campus and community partners on more than 300 screenings, which has led to enriching and engaging programming for university faculty, staff, and students, as well as Bloomington community members. In support of Indiana University’s longstanding commitment to excellence, research, and public engagement in the arts, the IU Cinema’s Creative Collaborations program provides a platform for making IU’s intellectual and cultural assets accessible and visible through campus- and community-wide thematic film programming. For more information, visit cinema.indiana.edu/creative-collaborations.

VOLUNTEER
Join the IU Cinema Usher Corps or Promotional Street Team! Volunteers see great movies, welcome guests, help spread the word about the IU Cinema, and get to see “behind the curtain” of the Cinema’s day-to-day operations. For more information, visit cinema.indiana.edu/support/volunteering or contact Jessica Davis Tagg at 812-855-2646 or jtagg@indiana.edu.
